

FAMILY DEMONSTRATION GARDENS REPORT 10TH OCTOBER 2015

Family demonstration gardens emerged out of the farm due to distant locations of farmers. In its endeavor to train farmers, BKB farm receives a range of farmers from different parts of Uganda and at different levels of learning. The disadvantaged farmers of the distant rural settings found it hard to benefit from this arrangement. This prompted BKB to design a more farmer friendly training program in which the demonstration gardens are located in the villages where farmers live.

A Farmer checking Okra

To date two villages of Ssentema and Katiiti have been commissioned while Naggulu and Naddangira are in their last stage. We hope to commission these in February 2016.

BKB farm has continued to offer training to individual visitors, schools, women groups, farmers and many other categories of visitors.

The photographs show some of the activities carried out during the previous dry season

A farmer harvesting teke

Seeding at Naddangira

Water Gardening

Farmers at Naddangira

Bugabo Lake View Primary Children Learning about animal feeding

Our dairy cow feeds on banana sheaths
during a dry spell.

